MBA Non-Profit Organizations

Program Description

The Master of Business Administration with a concentration in Nonprofit Organizations is a graduate program designed to develop visionary leaders capable of guiding socially conscious organizations through a combination of strategy, ethical integrity, and measurable impact. Through an integration of advanced business theory, innovation in the social sector, and experiential learning, the program equips students to lead nonprofit organizations within today's dynamic philanthropic and civic landscape. Participants develop skills in strategic decision-making, responsible resource management, and the promotion of initiatives that foster community transformation and institutional sustainability.

Program Objective

Preparing purpose-driven leaders capable of managing, innovating, and scaling nonprofit organizations to achieve sustainable impact. This graduate program develops advanced competencies in organizational leadership, financial management, fundraising strategies, program evaluation, social entrepreneurship, and governance, ensuring that graduates are equipped to address the complexities of mission-centered work in a constantly changing social and economic environment.
